This booklet contains OCR's GCSE Modern World specification in History B for first teaching from September 2013.

Key features

- A clear progression route to OCR A/AS Level History specifications.
- Historical Enquiry controlled assessment (25%) which requires the completion of one task.
- Aspects of International Relations, charting key changes, defining key issues and including key people and events.
- A choice of one from seven Depth Studies focusing on key features and characteristics of particular societies.
- A choice of one from two British Depth Studies (30%), focusing on key features and characteristics of British society during periods of change.

This specification requires students to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of:

- the key individuals, societies, events, developments and issues, identified through key questions and focus points in the core (Aspects of International Relations), the depth studies and controlled assessment, and the links between the key individuals, societies, events, developments, issues and the present
- key features and characteristics of the periods, societies, situations specified, and, where appropriate, the social, cultural, religious and ethnic diversity of the societies studied and the experiences of men and women in these societies in the depth studies
- change and development over a period of time sufficient to demonstrate understanding of the process of change, both long-term and short-term, through the core. The core is divided to ensure that candidates cover the full breadth and depth of the historical period. The time span of these varies depending on the historical period and these have been chosen to define a historically coherent period. Where there was extensive and rapid change and development in a relatively short time, the time span will be shorter than for a period where change was not so rapid
- history on at least two different scales, such as national, European, international and global and in breadth and depth. For example:
 - National through a depth study of a significant period of the history of one country
 - European through aspects of the core and depth studies
 - International through the core
 - Global through aspects of the core and depth studies
- different approaches to history:
 - an outline study of developments in Aspects of International Relations from the end of the First World War to the fall of Communism in Eastern Europe
 - Studies in Depth over a shorter period, of societies 'in the round', including various aspects of political, social, economic and cultural development in a single society
 - Historical Enquiry – in-depth investigation into a specific historical theme or issue relating to a specified society and period.

- history from a variety of perspectives:
 - political – in Aspects of International Relations from the end of the First World War to the fall of Communism and in the Studies in Depth
 - economic – in particular through Studies in Depth
 - social and cultural – in particular through Studies in Depth
- history through a range of sources of information appropriate to the period including ICT, written and visual sources, artefacts, oral accounts and buildings/historical sites. Demonstrated through the Historical Enquiry and in preparation for the British Depth Study source investigation in units A021 or A022
- a substantial and coherent element of British history through the content and assessment of units A021 and A022.

2.1 Overview of GCSE History B

Candidates must take unit A010 and ONE unit from A011–A017 plus ONE unit from A021 or A022.

Units	Assessment method

A022: How far did British society change, 1939–1975?	Question Paper: Candidates answer all questions.

Please note that the total marks for units A011–A017, A021 and A022 now incorporate additional marks for spelling, punctuation and grammar. Please see section 4.5 for further information.

2.2 Guided learning hours

GCSE History B requires 120–140 guided learning hours in total.

2.3 Aims and learning outcomes

GCSE specifications in History should encourage candidates to be inspired, moved and changed by following a broad, coherent, satisfying and worthwhile course of study and gain an insight into related sectors. They should prepare candidates to make informed decisions about further learning opportunities and career choices.

GCSE specifications in History must enable candidates to:

- actively engage in the process of historical enquiry to develop as effective and independent candidates and as critical and reflective thinkers with enquiring minds
- develop their knowledge and coherent understanding of selected periods, societies and aspects of history
- develop an awareness of how the past has been represented, interpreted and accorded significance for different reasons and purposes
- develop the ability to ask relevant questions about the past and to investigate them critically using a range of sources in their historical context
- organise and communicate their historical knowledge and understanding in creative and different ways and reach substantiated judgements
- recognise that their historical knowledge, understanding and skills help them understand the present and also provide them with a basis for their role as responsible citizens, as well as for the possible further study of history.

GCSE specifications in History must require learners to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of historical periods, themes and topics studied, and their chronology through:

- making connections and comparisons between different aspects of the periods, themes and topics studied
- describing, analysing and evaluating the causes and consequences of historical events and situations
- describing, analysing and evaluating changes and developments in the periods, themes and topics studied
- assessing the significance of individuals, events, developments and/or ideas in the history studied.

GCSE specifications in History must require learners to:

- understand, analyse and evaluate how the past has been interpreted and represented in different ways, using a range of appropriate media
- investigate specific historical questions, problems or issues, reviewing and reflecting on progress being made
- use a range of historical sources (such as written and visual sources, artefacts, film, ICT, paintings, photographs, music, oral accounts and buildings and sites) critically in their context, deploying appropriate information and reaching reasoned conclusions.

2.4 Prior learning

Candidates entering this course should have achieved a general educational level equivalent to National Curriculum Level 3, or Entry 3 at Entry Level within the National Qualifications Framework.

3.1 Unit A010: Historical Enquiry

Candidates will complete a single controlled assessment unit based on a taught course from one of the following four options:

- Historical Enquiry, Germany 1918–1945
- Historical Enquiry, Russia 1905–1941
- Historical Enquiry, The USA 1919–1941
- Historical Enquiry, The USA, Land of Freedom? 1945–1975.

Candidates will study a society over a period of approximately 25 years. In this study they should consider:

- social, economic, political, cultural and religious issues
- different features of the society, its diversity, the values and beliefs of different groups and relationships between different groups
- change and continuity over time
- the role of key individuals
- causation, motivation, consequence and significance
- similarities and differences.

Candidates should study the society through:

- a critical use of a range of sources
- a range of representations and interpretations.

Candidates will complete one task. This unit will represent 25% of the total marks available on the complete specification. Each candidate's submission should be 2000 words in total.

Centres must teach the broad area of study to the candidates and should not teach to the question. Coverage of the broad context and gaining an overview of the period will be necessary for satisfactory completion of the task. Teachers are expected to present candidates with different interpretations from a variety of perspectives that will enable candidates to form their own opinions and conclusions on these events. The content provides a background: study in great detail of each topic is not required.

There should be sufficient source material to present candidates with a genuine challenge of selection and deployment. Evidence might include:

- the use of personal accounts
- pictorial representations
- other primary sources
- historians' accounts
- cartoons
- media clips
- internet sites
- and other material that allows individual interpretation.

The individual nature of the question will influence the nature of the evidence, but every effort should be made to create a good range of types of material. The broader study might draw on text books and other written sources involving the overall development surrounding the subject. Candidates must use a range of sources. A range of sources is defined as at least 5, which includes a source contemporary to the period being studied, and at least 3 different types of sources. This will ensure that candidates understand a range of interpretations of the issue they have studied, and that they are able to analyse and evaluate different types of historical evidence. All sources used must be appropriately and fully referenced (both primary and secondary sources). This can be done as bibliography, footnotes, endnotes, etc., but must be included.

OCR will confirm the suitability of the sources selected through the Sources Checking Form. Submission of this form is mandatory, and OCR consultants may contact centres requesting further information in order to be able to confirm the appropriateness of the sources.

OCR will issue new tasks for each option each year.

- Centres must use the task as set and cannot adapt the wording of the task.
- Centres must use the task set for the year that the candidate will be entered for the controlled assessment unit. It will not be possible to submit the task from a previous or future year for assessment.
- Tasks for a particular series will be available on OCR's secure website, Interchange, at least 18 months before the relevant examination series.
- Candidates may complete the task any time during their GCSE History course of study following a taught programme of study (approximately 8–10 weeks) which is the first part of the controlled assessment course (approximately 12–14 weeks in total).
- Candidates must take a task that matches the examination series in which they will be completing the course and sitting the externally assessed units.
- Centres are required to complete and submit to OCR a Sources Checking Form (see Appendix C). Centres should not begin to deliver the Unit before receiving confirmation from OCR that their chosen source materials have been approved.
- Proposal forms must be received by OCR by 31 January in the year of entry.

The controlled assessment unit will be assessed out of 50 marks of which 10 marks are allocated to AO1, 15 marks are allocated to AO2 and 25 marks are allocated to AO3 (see AOs page 50).

The task will be marked by the centre using the marking criteria set out in section 5.3.4.

To ensure a broad and balanced course of study candidates must not complete a controlled assessment task on one of the options that corresponds to their chosen depth study (A011–A017).

Historical Enquiry

The task must be based on one of four options. Candidates complete one task from the option that they have chosen. Please see section 8.4.1 for the unit entry option codes.

Option 1: Germany 1918–1945

Candidates who choose this controlled assessment option may NOT choose unit A011

Candidates must have a background knowledge and understanding of Germany 1918–1945 in relation to the following:

- The Weimar Republic – the difficult first years
- The recovery of the Weimar Republic
- The rise of the Nazis and the fall of the Weimar Republic
- Nazi control of Germany
- Living in Nazi Germany.

The tasks will test all assessment objectives. They will require candidates to carry out an historical enquiry using their findings from a range of sources, interpretations and representations. Candidates will have access to earlier work completed in class and other resources such as books, photographs and primary sources.

In completing their chosen task candidates should use their knowledge and understanding of the option studied, and should support their arguments and conclusions by a critical use of historical sources as evidence.

Option 2: Russia 1905–1941

Candidates who choose this controlled assessment option may NOT choose unit A012

Candidates must have a background knowledge and understanding of Russia 1905–1941 in relation to the following:

- Revolution and reform, 1905–1914
- Revolutions, 1914–1917
- Lenin and the consolidation of power
- Stalin's control of the USSR
- Stalin's economic policies.

The tasks will test all assessment objectives. They will require candidates to carry out an historical enquiry using their findings from a range of sources, interpretations and representations. Candidates will have access to earlier work completed in class and other resources such as books, photographs and primary sources.

In completing their chosen task candidates should use their knowledge and understanding of the option studied and should support their arguments and conclusions by a critical use of historical sources as evidence.

Option 3: The USA 1919–1941

Candidates who choose this controlled assessment option may NOT choose unit A013

Candidates must have a background knowledge and understanding of The USA 1919–1941 in relation to the following:

- American society in the 1920s
- The American economy in the 1920s
- The Wall Street Crash and the Great Depression
- The 1932 presidential election
- Roosevelt and the New Deal.

The tasks will test all assessment objectives. They will require candidates to carry out an historical enquiry using their findings from a range of sources, interpretations and representations. Candidates will have access to earlier work completed in class and other resources such as books, photographs and primary sources.

In completing their chosen task candidates should use their knowledge and understanding of the option studied and should support their arguments and conclusions by a critical use of historical sources as evidence.

Option 4: The USA, Land of Freedom? 1945–1975

Candidates who choose this controlled assessment option may NOT choose unit A017

Candidates must have a background knowledge and understanding of The USA, Land of Freedom? 1945–1975 in relation to the following:

- American society In the 1950s and 1960s
- Fear of Communism and McCarthyism
- Civil rights in the 1950s
- The struggle for civil rights in the 1960s and early 1970s
- The civil rights of other groups in the USA.

The tasks will test all assessment objectives. They will require candidates to carry out an historical enquiry using their findings from a range of sources, interpretations and representations. Candidates will have access to earlier work completed in class and other resources such as books, photographs and primary sources.

In completing their chosen task candidates should use their knowledge and understanding of the option studied and should support their arguments and conclusions by a critical use of historical sources as evidence.

3.2 Units A011–A017: Aspects of International Relations, and the chosen Depth Study

Each unit A011–A017 consists of a Depth Study (sections 3.3–3.9) and a Core on Aspects of International Relations. Candidates study the Depth Study and only ONE of the available core options within the unit.

The specified content is defined through a number of Key Questions and Focus Points. The Key Questions define the topics as well as encouraging an issues-based and investigative approach to the content. Focus Points indicate the issues that need to be addressed in each Key Question. Candidates will be expected to demonstrate understanding of the Key Questions and Focus Points using knowledge of relevant historical examples.

Teachers are expected to present candidates with different interpretations from a variety of perspectives which will enable candidates to form their own opinions and conclusions on these events.

Core Content: Aspects of International Relations

The Inter-War Years, 1919–1939

Key Question 1: Were the peace treaties of 1919–1923 fair?

Focus Points	• What were the motives and aims of the Big Three at Versailles? • Why did the victors not get everything they wanted? • What were the immediate reactions to the peace settlement? • Could the treaties be justified at the time?
Specified Content	The peace treaties of 1919–1923 (Versailles, St Germain, Trianon, Sèvres and Lausanne); the roles of individuals such as Wilson, Clemenceau and Lloyd George in the peacemaking process; the immediate reactions to, and opinions about, the treaties, especially in Britain, France, Germany and the USA.

Key Question 2: To what extent was the League of Nations a success?

Focus Points	• What were the aims of the League? • How successful was the League in the 1920s? • How far did weaknesses in the League's organisation make failure inevitable? • How far did the Depression make the work of the League more difficult? • Why did the League fail over Manchuria and Abyssinia?
Specified Content	The aims of the League, its strengths and weaknesses in structure and organisation; successes and failures in peacekeeping during the 1920s; disarmament; the work of the Court of International Justice; the ILO and the Special Commissions; the impact of the World Depression on the work of the League after 1929; the failures of the League in Manchuria and Abyssinia.

Key Question 3: Why had international peace collapsed by 1939?

Focus Points	• What were the long-term consequences of the peace treaties of 1919–1923? • What were the consequences of the failures of the League in the 1930s? • How far was Hitler's foreign policy to blame for the outbreak of war in 1939? • Was the policy of appeasement justified? • How important was the Nazi-Soviet Pact? • Why did Britain and France declare war on Germany in September 1939?
Specified Content	The collapse of international order in the 1930s; the increasing militarism of Germany, Italy and Japan; Hitler's foreign policy up to 1939; the Saar, remilitarisation of the Rhineland, Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland; the Nazi-Soviet Pact; appeasement and the outbreak of war in September 1939.

The Cold War, 1945–1975

Key Question 4: Who was to blame for the Cold War?

Focus Points	• Why did the USA-USSR alliance begin to break down in 1945? • How had the USSR gained control of Eastern Europe by 1948? • How did the USA react to Soviet expansionism? • Who was more to blame for the start of the Cold War, the USA or the USSR?
Specified Content	The origins of the Cold War; the 1945 summit conferences including the parts played by Churchill, Roosevelt, Stalin and Truman, and the breakdown of the USA-USSR alliance in 1945–6; Soviet expansion in Eastern Europe; the Iron Curtain; the Truman Doctrine and the Marshall Plan; the Berlin Blockade and its immediate consequences.

Key Question 5: Who won the Cuban Missile Crisis?

Focus Points	• How did the USA react to the Cuban Revolution? • Why did Khrushchev put missiles into Cuba? • Why did Kennedy react as he did? • Who won the Cuban Missile Crisis?
Specified Content	The Cuban Revolution and the USA's reaction to it; the Bay of Pigs; the events of the Crisis including the roles of Khrushchev and Kennedy; the resolution and the consequences of the Crisis.

Key Question 6: Why did the USA fail in Vietnam?

Focus Points	• Why did the USA get increasingly involved in Vietnam? • What were the different ways that the USA and the Communists fought the war? • Whose tactics were the most effective – the USA's or the Communists'? • Why did the USA withdraw from Vietnam?
Specified Content	Increasing American involvement in Vietnam under Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson; the main events of the war and the tactics used by the two sides; reasons for American withdrawal.

A New World? 1948–2005

Key Question 7: How secure was the USSR's control over Eastern Europe, 1948–c.1989?

Focus Points	- Why was there opposition to Soviet control in Hungary in 1956 and Czechoslovakia in 1968, and how did the USSR react to this opposition? - How similar were events in Hungary in 1956 and in Czechoslovakia in 1968? - Why was the Berlin Wall built in 1961? - How important was 'Solidarity'? - How far was Gorbachev responsible for the collapse of the Soviet Empire?
Specified Content	The nature of Soviet control in Eastern Europe from 1948; the Hungarian Uprising of 1956 and the Soviet reaction; the building of the Berlin Wall in 1961; the 'Prague Spring' of 1968 and the Soviet reaction; 'Solidarity' in Poland; Gorbachev's policies and other factors and the collapse of Soviet control in Eastern Europe, including the fall of the Berlin Wall.

Key Question 8: How effective has terrorism been since 1969?

Focus Points	- What is terrorism? Why do people become terrorists? Why do people/organisations resort to terrorism? - Why is terrorism generally condemned? Is terrorism ever justified? - What roles do religion, nationalism and ideology play in terrorism? - How different are terrorist groups in their membership, aims, motives and methods? - How important are the leaders of terrorist groups? - How have governments reacted to terrorism? - How effective have terrorist groups been? What explains their success or failure?
Specified Content	The debate about 'terrorist or freedom fighter?' The aims, methods and effectiveness of: (i) the Provisional IRA, 1969–1998; from the emergence of the IRA to the Good Friday Agreement; (ii) the Palestine Liberation Organisation, 1969–1993, from Yasser Arafat becoming Chairman to the Oslo Accords: a terrorist organisation? (iii) al-Qaeda, from the mid-1980s to 2004. The emergence of al-Qaeda from the resistance against the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan to the American 'War on Terror' post 9/11. Candidates will not be required to have a detailed knowledge of the history of these three groups but will need to have knowledge of the main events and developments relating to them.

Key Question 9: What is the significance of the Iraq War?

Focus Points

- Why did the multi-national force invade Iraq in 2003?
- Was the invasion legal? Why was there opposition in many countries to the invasion?
- How was the invasion completed so quickly?
- What were the consequences of the invasion inside Iraq and internationally?
- Was the invasion of Iraq a success?

Specified Content

The debate over weapons of mass destruction, Saddam Hussein's human rights record, claims about his links with al-Qaeda, 9/11, spreading democracy, Iraq's oil, the role of religion within Iraqi society and the divisions within Iraqi society. The roles of the UN, Bush and Blair. Opposition to the invasion in Britain and in other parts of the world. The main events of the invasion. The post-invasion condition of Iraq: breakdown in law and order, the insurgency, the methods used by the Americans and the British against the insurgency. Everyday life for the Iraqi people, human rights abuses. The elections of 2005 and the setting up of the Transitional Government. The international consequences of the Iraq War.

3.3 Unit A011: Germany 1918–1945

The Study in Depth on Germany 1918–1945 is designed to enable candidates to develop and enrich their understanding of people and problems in the past through the study of social, economic, political, cultural and religious aspects of a country.

The specified content is defined through a number of Key Questions and Focus Points.

The Focus Points indicate what is involved in addressing each Key Question. Candidates will be expected to demonstrate understanding of these Key Questions and Focus Points using knowledge of the specified content. There are times when a Focus Point is used to set the scene for a Key Question but without apparently bearing directly on the Key Question itself. This is in order to indicate what is required if the Key Question is to be addressed adequately.

4.2 Assessment Objectives (AOs)

Candidates are expected to demonstrate their ability to:

AO1	Recall, select, use and communicate their knowledge and understanding of history.
AO2	Demonstrate their understanding of the past through explanation and analysis of: - key concepts: causation, consequence, continuity, change and significance within an historical context - key features and characteristics of the periods studied and the relationships between them.
AO3	Understand, analyse and evaluate: - a range of source material as part of an historical enquiry - how aspects of the past have been interpreted and represented in different ways as part of an historical enquiry.

4.3 Grading and awarding grades

GCSE results are awarded on the scale A* to G. Units are awarded a* to g. Grades are indicated on certificates. However, results for candidates who fail to achieve the minimum grade (G or g) will be recorded as unclassified (U or u) and this is not certificated.

Most GCSEs are unitised schemes. When working out candidates' overall grades OCR needs to be able to compare performance on the same unit in different series when different grade boundaries may have been set, and between different units. OCR uses a Uniform Mark Scale to enable this to be done.

A candidate's uniform mark for each unit is calculated from the candidate's raw mark on that unit. The raw mark boundary marks are converted to the equivalent uniform mark boundary. Marks between grade boundaries are converted on a pro rata basis.

When unit results are issued, the candidate's unit grade and uniform mark are given. The uniform mark is shown out of the maximum uniform mark for the unit, e.g. 41/50.

The specification is graded on a Uniform Mark Scale. The uniform mark thresholds for each of the assessments are shown below:

(GCSE) Unit Weighting	Maximum Unit Uniform Mark	a*	a	b	Unit Grade		e	f	g	u
					c	d
25%	50	45	40	35	30	25	20	15	10	0
30%	60	54	48	42	36	30	24	18	12	0
45%	90	81	72	63	54	45	36	27	18	0

A candidate's uniform marks for each unit are aggregated and grades for the specification are generated on the following scale:

Qualification	Maximum Uniform Mark	A*	A	B	Qualification Grade		E	F	G	U
GCSE	200	180	160	140	120	100	80	60	40	0

The written papers will have a total weighting of 75% and controlled assessment a weighting of 25%.

A candidate's uniform mark for each paper will be combined with the uniform mark for the controlled assessment to give a total uniform mark for the specification. The candidate's grade will be determined by the total uniform mark.

4.4 Grade descriptions

Grade descriptions are provided to give a general indication of the standards of achievement likely to have been shown by candidates awarded particular grades. The descriptions must be interpreted in relation to the content in the specification; they are not designed to define that content. The grade awarded will depend in practice upon the extent to which the candidate has met the assessment objectives overall. Shortcomings in some aspects of the assessment may be balanced by better performance in others.

The grade descriptors have been produced by the regulatory authorities in collaboration with the awarding bodies.

4.4.1 Grade F

Candidates recall, select and organise some relevant historical knowledge to show some basic understanding of historical periods, themes and topics studied. They communicate their ideas using everyday language.

They demonstrate their understanding of the past through description of reasons, results and changes in relation to the events, people and issues studied. They provide limited descriptions of events, issues or periods, including characteristic ideas, beliefs and attitudes.

They understand sources of information and, taking them at their face value, begin to consider their usefulness for investigating historical issues and draw simple conclusions.

They identify some differences between ways in which events, people or issues have been represented and interpreted, and may identify some of the reasons for these.

4.4.2 Grade C

Candidates recall, select, organise and deploy historical knowledge with accuracy and relevance. They show sound understanding of the historical periods, themes and topics studied. They communicate their ideas using historical terminology appropriately.

They demonstrate their understanding of the past through structured descriptions and explanations of the main concepts, features and characteristics of the periods studied. Their descriptions are accurate and their explanations show understanding of relevant causes, consequences and changes.

They evaluate and use critically a range of sources of information in an historical context to investigate historical questions, problems or issues and, with some limited guidance, to reach reasoned conclusions.

They recognise and comment on how and why events, people and issues have been interpreted and represented in different ways, and provide an appropriate consideration of their value in the historical context.

4.4.3 Grade A

Candidates recall, select, organise and deploy detailed historical knowledge effectively and with consistency. They show a thorough understanding of the historical periods, themes and topics studied. They communicate their ideas using historical terms accurately and appropriately.

They demonstrate their understanding of the past through developed, reasoned and well substantiated explanations. They make perceptive analyses of the key concepts, features and characteristics of the periods studied, and the interrelationships between them.

They evaluate and use critically a wide range of sources of information in an historical context to investigate historical questions, problems or issues independently, and to reach reasoned and substantiated conclusions.

They recognise and provide reasoned comments on how and why events, people and issues have been interpreted and represented in different ways, and provide a well developed consideration of their value in relation to their historical context.

4.5 Quality of written communication and the assessment of spelling, punctuation and grammar

Quality of written communication is assessed in all units and is integrated in the marking criteria.

Candidates are expected to:

- ensure that text is legible and that spelling, punctuation and grammar are accurate so that meaning is clear
- present information in a form that suits its purpose
- use an appropriate style of writing and, where applicable, specialist terminology.

In the external assessments for units A011–A017, A021 and A022 questions marked with a pencil (✎) will carry additional marks for spelling, punctuation and grammar.

This section provides general guidance on the delivery of controlled assessment: what controlled assessment tasks are, when and how they are available; how to plan and manage controlled assessment and what controls must be applied throughout the process. More support can be found on the OCR website.

The controlled assessment unit has been designed to be completed over a period of approximately 12–14 weeks. The unit consists of two parts:

- the programme of study (approximately 8–10 weeks)
- the completion of the task under controlled conditions (8 hours – approximately 4 weeks).

Teaching and Learning

Candidates need to take part in a taught programme of study before commencing the controlled assessment task. This programme of study will be devised by the centre and will be based on one of the following options:

- Germany 1918–1945
- Russia 1905–1941
- The USA 1919–1941
- The USA, Land of Freedom? 1945–1975.

The purpose of the programme of study is to provide candidates with a broad coverage of the content, skills and understanding that will be required by the controlled assessment task. It must offer a broad overview of the topic and should not be narrowly targeted on the task. To ensure a broad programme of study each option has a number of issues that must be covered during the teaching. Centres should ensure that all these issues are covered during teaching and learning. The purpose is for candidates to have a broad overview of the period, not in-depth detailed knowledge of every topic.

Teaching and learning should not focus directly on the controlled assessment question. Class notes that address the question directly should not be issued nor should candidates be allowed to ‘practice’ on the question. It is acceptable, however, to allow candidates to work on similar questions that are focused on other aspects from the programme of study.

When all necessary teaching and learning has taken place and teachers feel that candidates are ready for assessment, candidates can be given the appropriate controlled assessment task.

5.1 Controlled assessment tasks

All controlled assessment tasks are set by OCR. Each year three tasks will be set for each of the following options: Germany 1918–1945; Russia 1905–1941; The USA 1919–1941 and The USA, Land of Freedom? 1945–1975.

Controlled assessment tasks will be available in OCR’s secure website, Interchange, at least 18 months before the examination series for certification. Tasks will be different each year. Guidance on how to access controlled assessment tasks from Interchange is available on the OCR website.

Centres must ensure that candidates undertake a task applicable to the correct year of the examination by checking carefully the examination dates on the tasks on Interchange.

Three controlled assessment tasks will be available from OCR for each of the four options within the controlled assessment unit. These tasks will be changed every year. Each candidate must complete one task; it is not compulsory for all candidates from any one centre to complete the same task, but it is acceptable for them to do so. The tasks have been written to allow centres to contextualise them to best suit their centre-specific circumstances (e.g. through the resources used in completing the tasks).

The wording of tasks must NOT be adapted by centres or candidates. Each task has been written to allow the use of a wide range of sources, and centres may select appropriate sources that are available to them. However, centres will be required to receive confirmation from OCR regarding the suitability of the sources selected through use of the Sources Checking Form (Appendix C). Submission of this form is mandatory, and OCR consultants may contact centres requesting further information in order to be able to confirm the appropriateness of the sources.

A previous year's task may NOT be re-submitted in the following examination series.

The task(s) should be given to candidates during the week before the 8 hours controlled assessment commences.

5.2 Planning and managing controlled assessment

The control for the completion of the task is defined by a time limit of 8 hours. It is anticipated that candidates will spend a total of 8 hours in producing the work for this unit.

Suggested steps and timings are included below, with guidance on regulatory controls at each step of the process. Teachers must ensure that the control requirements indicated below are met throughout the process.

5.2.1 Preparation: in lesson time the week before the controlled assessment commences (informal supervision)

The task(s) should be given to candidates towards the end of the programme of study in the week before the 8 hours under controlled conditions begins. Candidates should be allowed to spend this time on some preliminary and general planning. Informal supervision ensures that the work of the individual candidates is recorded accurately and that plagiarism does not take place. Assessable outcomes may be informed by group work, but must be an individual response.

It is suggested that when candidates are given the task they are also provided with one sheet of A4 paper on which they could do this planning. The paper should be blank except for five or six bullet points. Candidates should be allowed to use these bullet points for some preliminary planning and should be allowed to bring the sheet in with them at the beginning of the 8 hours. If this is all they are allowed to bring in at the beginning of the 8 hours, it makes it easy for candidates to follow, and easy for the teacher to check.

5.2.2 Producing the final piece of work: 8 hours (formal supervision)

It is expected that the completion of the task during the 8 hours will take place during normal history lessons and in the candidates' normal classroom, although other rooms may be used, for example, computer rooms. The 8 hours will therefore be spread over several weeks of lessons.

Candidates must be under direct teacher supervision during these 8 hours. They must complete all their work under these supervised conditions. They are not allowed to work on their answers outside the 8 hours and may not take work out, or bring work in, at the end or beginning of lessons.

It is not necessary for candidates to work in silence during the 8 hours; this is for the teacher to decide, however, if candidates are allowed to talk the teacher must ensure that they are not discussing the task. Some teachers might decide to allow some talk during the planning stage but to insist on silence when final answers are being written up.

During the 8 hours, candidates should have access to all the materials the teacher decides are necessary and sufficient for completing the task. These will normally be materials that have been produced or used during the programme of study: for example, class work completed during the programme of study, notes made during a visit (for example, to a battlefield), primary and secondary sources, text books, reference books, and material downloaded from websites.

These materials must not be selected by the teacher so that they all have direct relevance to the task. They should consist of the materials used during the teaching programme leaving candidates with decisions to make about selection in terms of what is, and what is not, relevant to the task.

Materials for use during the 8 hours must be handed in at the end of each session and given out again at the beginning of the next session. Once the 8 hours have started, candidates may not bring any further materials into the session(s).

Teachers must produce a list of the resources used for the task to be submitted at the same time as the moderated sample, see section 5.3.7 Moderation. Teachers must also ensure that they make an additional copy of any sources provided to the candidates as these must also be submitted at the same time as the moderated sample.

Once submitted for assessment, all candidates' work, including the preparatory notes on the A4 sheet taken into the 8 hours of formal supervision, must be retained securely within the centre until results are issued and it is certain that no Result Enquiry or Appeal procedure is required.

Candidates should be encouraged to spend 4 hours on research, making notes, planning what they are going to write and then drafting it. They should be encouraged to select from materials the teacher decides are necessary and sufficient for completing the task as explained above. They should not at this stage be researching from further materials or searching the internet for material. The internet should be used during the teaching and learning programme only.

During the research phase candidates can be given support and guidance. The teacher has two tasks during this time:

- to ensure that candidates are working individually and that the completed work they hand in at the end of 8 hours is their own work. This can be done most effectively by the teacher being familiar with the progress that individual candidates are making.
- to provide support and guidance. Candidates are expected to reach their own judgements and conclusions but teachers can provide general support by ensuring that candidates understand what is expected of them. This could involve reading the guidance for candidates to the class. Candidates can show their work in progress to the teacher who can respond in a general way by indicating general issues, for example, the work is irrelevant or too descriptive. However, the teacher is not allowed to indicate which parts of the work contain these faults, nor can s/he explain how to improve the work. Teachers are not allowed to provide sub-headings, writing frames, model answers or to work through answers in detail. Some candidates will benefit from help with time-management. This is allowed, for example, it is acceptable for teachers to suggest to candidates that they have not much time left and need to move on to a final draft.

The final piece of work should be 2000 words in total. Work that exceeds this word limit will not be assessed. Candidates should be encouraged to develop the skill of writing with precision and succinctness. Headings included within the body of the materials presented by the candidate should be included in the word count, but footnotes, figures, tables, diagrams, charts and appendices should not be included.

When supervising tasks, teachers are expected to:

- exercise continuing supervision of work in order to monitor progress and to prevent plagiarism
- ensure that the work is completed in accordance with the specification requirements and can be assessed in accordance with the specified marking criteria and procedures.

Candidates must work independently to produce their own final piece of work.

The table below shows what may and may not be provided in the formal controlled assessment sessions:

✓	✗
• preparatory notes (A4 sheet of paper with 5/6 bullet points) • class work • text books and print outs from the internet • photographs • primary sources	• drafts • partly written drafts • the internet

5.2.3 Presentation of the final piece of work

Candidates must observe the following procedures when producing their final piece of work for the controlled assessment tasks:

- tables, graphs and spreadsheets may be produced using appropriate ICT. These should be inserted into the report at the appropriate place
- any copied material must be suitably acknowledged
- quotations must be clearly marked and a reference provided wherever possible
- work submitted for moderation or marking must be marked with the:
 - centre number
 - centre name
 - candidate number
 - candidate name
 - unit code, component code and title
 - assignment title.

Also included should be:

- coursework summary form
- centre authentication form.

All forms can be found on the OCR website.

Work submitted in digital format (CD or online) for moderation or marking must be in a suitable file structure as detailed in Appendix A at the end of this specification. Work submitted on paper must be secured by treasury tags.

5.3 Marking and moderating controlled assessment

All controlled assessment units are marked by the centre assessor(s) using OCR marking criteria and guidance and are moderated by the OCR-appointed moderator. Centres can choose whether they submit the work for moderation in digital format using the OCR repository or for postal moderation. Where centres have entries for more than one option (Germany 1918–1945, Russia 1905–1941, The USA 1919–1941, The USA, Land of Freedom? 1945–1975) these units will be moderated together. Centres must use the same submission method across all options.

5.3.1 Applying the marking criteria

The starting point for marking the tasks is the marking criteria (see section 5.3.4 Marking criteria for controlled assessment tasks). The criteria identify levels of performance for the skills, knowledge and understanding that the candidate is required to demonstrate. Before the start of the course, and for use at INSET training events, OCR will provide exemplification through real or simulated candidate work which will help to clarify the level of achievement the assessors should be looking for when awarding marks.

5.3.2 Use of 'best fit' approach to marking criteria

The assessment task(s) for each unit should be marked by teachers according to the given marking criteria within the relevant unit using a 'best fit' approach. For each of the assessment criteria, teachers select one of the five band descriptors provided in the marking grid that most closely describes the quality of the work being marked.

Marking should be positive, rewarding achievement rather than penalising failure or omissions. The award of marks must be directly related to the marking criteria.

Teachers use their professional judgement in selecting the band descriptor that best describes the work of the candidate.

To select the most appropriate mark within the band descriptor, teachers should use the following guidance:

- where the candidate's work convincingly meets the criteria, the highest mark should be awarded
- where the candidate's work adequately meets the criteria, the most appropriate mark in the middle range should be awarded
- where the candidate's work just meets the criteria, the lowest mark should be awarded.

Teachers should use the full range of marks available to them and award full marks in any band for work which fully meets that descriptor. This is work which is 'the best one could expect from candidates working at that level'. Where there are only two marks within a band the choice will be between work which, in most respects, meets the criteria and work which just meets the criteria. For wider mark bands the marks on either side of the middle mark(s) for 'adequately met' should be used where the standard is lower or higher than 'adequate' but not the highest or lowest mark in the band.

There should be clear evidence that work has been attempted and some work produced. If a candidate submits no work for the internally assessed unit, then the candidate should be indicated as being absent from that unit. If a candidate completes any work at all for an internally assessed unit, then the work should be assessed according to the marking criteria and the appropriate mark awarded, which may be zero.

The final mark for the candidate for the controlled assessment unit is out of a total of 50.

5.3.3 Annotation of candidates' work

Each piece of internally assessed work should show how the marks have been awarded in relation to the marking criteria.

The writing of comments on candidates' work, and coversheet, provides a means of communication between teachers during the internal standardisation and with the moderator if the work forms part of the moderation sample.

5.3.4 Marking criteria for controlled assessment tasks

Band 5	AO1: 9–10 marks	AO2: 13–15 marks	AO3: 21–25 marks
	Candidates: - select and deploy a range of relevant and accurate contextual knowledge to effectively support their answers - select, organise and deploy effectively and relevantly a wide range of information - write with great precision and succinctness, so that they do not exceed the prescribed word limit.	Candidates: - demonstrate a good understanding of key features, reasons, results and changes of the societies, events, people and situations studied - demonstrate a developed awareness of the importance of the broad context and understanding of interrelationships in the period studied - produce detailed explanations which make a range of reasonable comparisons and links - produce well developed, well-reasoned and well supported conclusions.	Candidates: - effectively and rigorously evaluate and make explicit use of a broad range of sources in their historical context to investigate and to support effectively arguments and conclusions - demonstrate a high level of ability to interpret and infer from representations and interpretations - show a good understanding of a wide range of representations and interpretations - clearly explain a range of differences and similarities across a wide range of representations and interpretations - show a good understanding of why sites/events/situations/people have been represented and interpreted in different/similar ways - make good use of some of the following in their explanations: purpose, audience, context, medium, access to information.
Band 4	AO1: 7–8 marks	AO2: 10–12 marks	AO3: 16–20 marks
	Candidates: - select and deploy mostly relevant and accurate contextual knowledge to support parts of their answers - select a range of relevant information which is generally well-organised and deployed effectively - write with precision and succinctness, so that they do not exceed the prescribed word limit.	Candidates: - demonstrate a reasonable understanding of the significance of key features, reasons, results and changes of the societies, events, people and situations studied - demonstrate an awareness of the broad context and some understanding of interrelationships in the period studied - produce explanations which make some reasonable comparisons and links - produce generally developed, reasoned and supported conclusions.	Candidates: - effectively interpret and make explicit use of a range of sources to support arguments and conclusions - demonstrate the ability to interpret and infer from representations and interpretations - show a satisfactory understanding of a range of representations and interpretations - explain some differences and similarities across a range of representations and interpretations - show a satisfactory understanding of why sites/events/situations/people have been represented and interpreted in different/similar ways - make some valid use of at least one of the following in their explanations: purpose, audience, context, medium, access to information.

Band 3	AO1: 5–6 marks	AO2: 7–9 marks	AO3: 11–15 marks
	Candidates: - select some relevant contextual knowledge and mostly deploy it relevantly to support parts of their answers - select some, mostly relevant, information, which is mostly well-organised and deployed - write with some precision and succinctness, so that they do not exceed the prescribed word limit.	Candidates: - demonstrate some understanding of the key features, reasons, results and changes of the societies, events, people and situations studied - demonstrate some awareness of the broad context and a limited understanding of interrelationships in the period studied - produce explanations which make a few reasonable comparisons or links - produce conclusions which have some support although these are not always developed or reasoned.	Candidates: - interpret and make explicit use of some sources to support arguments; they begin to evaluate the sources but this is often not integrated into their arguments - demonstrate the ability to make some inferences from representations and interpretations - show some understanding of some representations and interpretations - explain the reasons for some of the more obvious differences and similarities between at least two representations and interpretations - show some understanding of why sites/events/situations/people have been represented and interpreted in different/similar ways - make some use of at least one of the following in their explanations: purpose, audience, context, medium, access to information.
Band 2	AO1: 3–4 marks	AO2: 4–6 marks	AO3: 6–10 marks
	Candidates: - demonstrate some, but limited, relevant contextual knowledge - select and organise some relevant material: this is only sometimes deployed effectively - write with a lack of precision and succinctness, but still do not exceed the word limit.	Candidates: - demonstrate limited understanding of some of the key features, reasons, results and changes of the societies, events, people and situations studied - demonstrate little awareness of the broad context and no awareness of inter-relationships in the period studied - produce limited explanations which make only obvious points of comparison or links - attempt conclusions but these are asserted and not supported.	Candidates: - make explicit use of a limited number of sources, but these are used without interpretation; evaluation of the sources is very basic and at face value and is not used to support arguments - describe some features of the representations and interpretations - show understanding of representations and interpretations at a surface level - identify some differences or similarities in representations and interpretations and begin to identify some reasons for these though without support or explanation - show limited understanding of why sites/events/situations/people have been represented and interpreted in different/similar ways - make limited use of at least one of the following in their explanations: purpose, audience, context, medium, access to information.

Band 1	AO1: 1–2 marks	AO2: 1–3 marks	AO3: 1–5 marks
	Candidates: • demonstrate little relevant contextual knowledge • demonstrate limited ability to select and organise information • write relatively little or it is of some length but the content is not focused on the task.	Candidates: • demonstrate little understanding but are able to describe a few key features, reasons, results and changes of the societies, events, people and situations studied • demonstrate no awareness of context or inter-relationships in the period studied • produce limited descriptions but with no explanation and no effective comparisons or links • do not include even an attempt at conclusions.	Candidates: • do not use sources explicitly but some information is extracted from them • describe a few surface features of representations and interpretations • show minimal or no understanding of representations and interpretations • identify a few differences or similarities in representations and interpretations though no reasons are offered for these • show minimal or no understanding of why sites/events/situations/people have been represented and interpreted in different/similar ways • make minimal or no use of any of the following in their explanations: purpose, audience, context, medium, access to information.

0 marks = no response or response worthy of credit.

5.3.5 Authentication of work

Teachers must be confident that the work they mark is the candidate's own. This does not mean that a candidate must be supervised throughout the completion of all work but the teacher must exercise sufficient supervision, or introduce sufficient checks, to be in a position to judge the authenticity of the candidate's work.

The teacher should discuss work-in-progress with candidates. This will not only ensure that work is underway in a planned and timely manner but will also provide opportunities for assessors to check authenticity of the work and provide general feedback.

Candidates must not plagiarise. Plagiarism is the submission of another's work as one's own and/or failure to acknowledge the source correctly. Plagiarism is considered to be malpractice and could lead to the candidate being disqualified. Plagiarism sometimes occurs innocently when candidates are unaware of the need to reference or acknowledge their sources. It is therefore important that centres ensure that candidates understand that the work they submit must be their own and that they understand the meaning of plagiarism and what penalties may be applied. Candidates may refer to research, quotations or evidence but they must list their sources. The rewards from acknowledging sources, and the credit they will gain from doing so, should be emphasised to candidates as well as the potential risks of failing to acknowledge such material. Candidates may be asked to sign a declaration to this effect. Centres should reinforce this message to ensure candidates understand what is expected of them.

Please note: Centres must confirm to OCR that the evidence produced by candidates is authentic. The Centre Authentication Form includes a declaration for assessors to sign and is available from the OCR website and OCR Interchange.

To further aid moderators in ensuring that work is authentic, teachers must retain the plan that each candidate takes into the 8 hours of formally supervised planning, research and writing-up and retain all additional work to the task (notes and drafts) completed by the candidates during the 8 hours. This material must be retained securely within the centre until results are issued and it is certain that no Result Enquiry or Appeal procedure is required.

5.3.6 Internal standardisation

It is important that all internal assessors, working in the same subject area, work to common standards. Centres must ensure that the internal standardisation of marks across assessors and teaching groups takes place using an appropriate procedure.

This can be done in a number of ways. In the first year, reference material and OCR training meetings will provide a basis for centres' own standardisation. In subsequent years, this, or centres' own archive material, may be used. Centres are advised to hold preliminary meetings of staff involved to compare standards through cross-marking a small sample of work. After most marking has been completed, a further meeting at which work is exchanged and discussed will enable final adjustments to be made.

Centres with entries for more than one of the controlled assessment options (Germany 1918–1945, Russia 1905–1941, The USA 1919–1941, The USA, Land of Freedom? 1945–1975) must ensure that internal standardisation takes place for all work across the options as these will all be moderated together.

5.3.7 Moderation

All work for controlled assessment is marked by the teacher and internally standardised by the centre. Marks are then submitted to OCR, after which moderation takes place in accordance with OCR procedures: refer to the OCR website for submission dates of the marks to OCR. The purpose of moderation is to ensure that the standard of the award of marks for work is the same for each centre and that each teacher has applied the standards appropriately across the range of candidates within the centre.

Once you have submitted your marks, your exams officer will receive an email requesting a moderation sample. Samples will include work from across the range of attainment of the candidates' work and across options.

The sample of work which is presented to the moderator for moderation must show how the marks have been awarded in relation to the marking criteria defined in Section 5.3.4 pages 50–52.

Each candidate's work should have a cover sheet attached to it with a summary of the marks awarded for the task. If the work is to be submitted in digital format, this cover sheet should also be submitted electronically within each candidate's files. The sample of work which is presented to the moderator for moderation should also be accompanied by a full list of all resources and a copy of all sources made available to candidates during the 8 hours of formal supervision.

5.4 Submitting the moderation samples via the OCR Repository

The OCR Repository is a secure website for centres to upload candidate work and for assessors to access this work digitally. Centres can use the OCR Repository for uploading marked candidate work for moderation.

Centres can access the OCR Repository via OCR Interchange, find their candidate entries in their area of the Repository, and use the Repository to upload files (singly or in bulk) for access by their moderator.

The OCR Repository allows candidates to send evidence in electronic file types that would normally be difficult to submit through postal moderation; for example multimedia or other interactive unit submissions.

The OCR GCSE History B unit A010 can be submitted electronically to the OCR Repository via Interchange: please check Section 8.4.1 page 60 for unit entry codes for the OCR Repository.

There are three ways to load files to the OCR Repository:

1. Centres can load multiple files against multiple candidates by clicking on 'Upload candidate files' in the Candidates tab of the Candidate Overview screen.
2. Centres can load multiple files against a specific candidate by clicking on 'Upload files' in the Candidate Details screen.
3. Centres can load multiple administration files by clicking on 'Upload admin files' in the Administration tab of the Candidate Overview screen.

The OCR Repository is a faster, greener and more convenient means of providing work for assessment. It is part of a wider programme bringing digital technology to the assessment process, the aim of which is to provide simpler and easier administration for centres.

Instructions for how to upload files to OCR using the OCR Repository can be found on OCR Interchange.

6.1 Free resources available from the OCR website

The following materials will be available on the OCR website

- GCSE History B Specification
- specimen assessment materials for each unit
- guide to controlled assessment
- teacher's handbook
- sample schemes of work and lesson plans

6.2 Other resources

OCR offers centres a wealth of high quality published support with a choice of 'Official Publisher Partner' and 'Approved Publication' resources, all endorsed by OCR for use with OCR specifications.

6.2.1 Endorsed publications

OCR endorses a range of publisher materials to provide quality support for centres delivering its qualifications. You can be confident that materials branded with OCR's 'Official Publishing Partner' or 'Approved Publication' logos have undergone a thorough quality assurance process to achieve endorsement. All responsibility for the content of the publisher's materials rests with the publisher.

These endorsements do not mean that the materials are the only suitable resources available or necessary to achieve an OCR qualification.

6.3 Training

OCR will offer a range of support activities for all practitioners throughout the lifetime of the qualification to ensure they have the relevant knowledge and skills to deliver the qualification.

Please see Event Booker for further information.

6.4 OCR support services

6.4.1 Active Results

Active Results is available to all centres offering OCR's GCSE History B specifications.

Active Results is a free results analysis service to help teachers review the performance of individual candidates or whole schools.

Further information on Active Results can be found on the OCR website.

6.4.2 OCR Interchange

OCR Interchange has been developed to help you to carry out day-to-day administration functions online, quickly and easily. The site allows you to register and enter candidates online. In addition, you can gain immediate and free access to candidate information at your convenience. Sign up on the OCR website.

7.1 Equality Act information relating to GCSE History B

GCSEs often require assessment of a broad range of competences. This is because they are general qualifications and, as such, prepare candidates for a wide range of occupations and higher level courses.

The revised GCSE qualification and subject criteria were reviewed by the regulators in order to identify whether any of the competences required by the subject presented a potential barrier to any disabled candidates. If this was the case, the situation was reviewed again to ensure that such competences were included only where essential to the subject. The findings of this process were discussed with disability groups and with disabled people.

Reasonable adjustments are made for disabled candidates in order to enable them to access the assessments and to demonstrate what they know and can do. For this reason, very few candidates will have a complete barrier to the assessment. Information on reasonable adjustments is found in Access Arrangements, Reasonable Adjustments and Special Consideration by the Joint Council www.jcq.org.uk.

Candidates who are unable to access part of the assessment, even after exploring all possibilities through reasonable adjustments, may still be able to receive an award based on the parts of the assessment they have taken.

The access arrangements permissible for use in this specification are in line with Ofqual's GCSE subject criteria equalities review and are as follows:

	Yes/No	Type of Assessment
Readers	Yes	All written examinations
Scribes	Yes	All written examinations
Practical assistants	Yes	n/a
Word processors	Yes	All written examinations
Transcripts	Yes	All written examinations
Oral language modifiers	Yes	All written examinations
BSL signers	Yes	All written examinations
Modified question papers	Yes	All written examinations
Extra time	Yes	All written examinations

7.2 Arrangements for candidates with particular requirements (including Special Consideration)

All candidates with a demonstrable need may be eligible for access arrangements to enable them to show what they know and can do. The criteria for eligibility for access arrangements can be found in the JCQ document Access Arrangements, Reasonable Adjustments and Special Consideration.

Candidates who have been fully prepared for the assessment but who have been affected by adverse circumstances beyond their control at the time of the examination may be eligible for special consideration. As above, centres should consult the JCQ document Access Arrangements, Reasonable Adjustments and Special Consideration.

8 Administration of GCSE History B

The first examination series of this qualification is in June 2015. For the June 2014 examination series, please refer to the previous version of the specification.

8.1 Availability of assessment from 2015

There is one examination series available each year in June (all units are available each year in June).

GCSE History B certification is available in June 2015 and each June thereafter.

	Unit A010	Units A011–A017	Unit A021	Unit A022	Certification availability
June 2015	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
June 2016	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓

8.2 Certification rules

For GCSE History B, from June 2014 onwards, a 100% terminal rule applies. Candidates must enter for all their units in the series in which the qualification is certificated.

8.3 Rules for re-taking a qualification

Candidates may enter for the qualification an unlimited number of times.

Where a candidate re-takes a qualification, all units must be re-entered and all externally assessed units must be re-taken in the same series as the qualification is re-certificated. The new results for these units will be used to calculate the new qualification grade. Any results previously achieved cannot be re-used.

For the controlled assessment unit, candidates who are re-taking a qualification can choose either to re-take that controlled assessment unit or to carry forward the result for that unit that was used towards the previous certification of the same qualification.

- Where a candidate decides to re-take the controlled assessment, the new result will be the one used to calculate the new qualification grade. Any results previously achieved cannot be re-used.
- Where a candidate decides to carry forward a result for controlled assessment, they must be entered for the controlled assessment unit in the re-take series using the entry code for the carry forward option (see section 8.4).

For controlled assessment units which are re-taken, portfolios must contain new work only. This means the task taking part of the process must be completed. All task preparation and research work and the original notes can be used again. The original response cannot be taken into the task taking session.

8.4 Making entries

8.4.1 Unit entries

Centres must be approved to offer OCR qualifications before they can make any entries, including estimated entries. It is recommended that centres apply to OCR to become an approved centre well in advance of making their first entries. Centres must have made an entry for a unit in order for OCR to supply the appropriate forms and administrative materials.

It is essential that correct unit entry codes are used when making unit entries.

For the controlled assessment unit, centres can decide whether they want to submit candidates' work for moderation through the OCR Repository or by post. Where centres have entries for more than one option (Germany 1918–1945, Russia 1905–1941, The USA 1919–1941, The USA, Land of Freedom? 1945–1975) they must use the same submission method across all options. Candidates submitting controlled assessment must be entered for the appropriate unit entry code from the table below. Candidates who are re-taking the qualification and who want to carry forward the controlled assessment should be entered using the unit entry code for the carry forward option.

Candidates who certificated for GCSE History B J417 in June 2014 or earlier and who are now entered for J418 are permitted to carry forward their result for unit A973 Historical Enquiry, by entering for unit A010C.

Centres should note that controlled assessment tasks can still be completed at a time which is appropriate to the centre/candidate. However, where tasks change from year to year, centres would have to ensure that candidates had completed the correct task(s) for the year of entry.

Unit entry code	Component code	Assessment method	Unit titles

A021	01	Written Paper	How was British society changed, 1890–1918?
A022	01	Written Paper	How far did British society change, 1939–1975?

8.4.2 Certification entries

Candidates must be entered for qualification certification separately from unit assessment(s). If a certification entry is not made, no overall grade can be awarded.

Centres must enter candidates for:

- GCSE History B certification code J418.

8.5 Enquiries about results

Under certain circumstances, a centre may wish to query the result issued to one or more candidates. Enquiries about results for GCSE units must be made immediately following the series in which the relevant unit was taken and by the relevant enquiries about results deadline for that series.

Please refer to the JCQ Post-Results Services booklet and the OCR Admin Guide: 14–19 Qualifications for further guidance on enquiries about results and deadlines. Copies of the latest versions of these documents can be obtained from the OCR website at www.ocr.org.uk.

8.6 Prohibited qualifications and classification code

Every specification is assigned a national classification code indicating the subject area to which it belongs. The classification code for this specification is 4010.

Centres should be aware that candidates who enter for more than one GCSE qualification with the same classification code will have only one grade (the highest) counted for the purpose of the School and College Performance Tables.

Centres may wish to advise candidates that, if they take two specifications with the same classification code, colleges are very likely to take the view that they have achieved only one of the two GCSEs. The same view may be taken if candidates take two GCSE specifications that have different classification codes but have significant overlap of content. Candidates who have any doubts about their subject combinations should seek advice, either from their centre or from the institution to which they wish to progress.

9.1 Overlap with other qualifications

The potential for overlap exists between units A011–A017, Aspects of International Relations, 1948–2005 and GCSE Citizenship, GCSE History A, GCSE Religious Studies, GCSE Geography, GCSE Sociology, GCSE Economics and the GCSE Business Suite. This is inevitable in any broad Humanities programme such as that devised in this Modern World History specification.

9.2 Progression from this qualification

GCSE qualifications are general qualifications which enable candidates to progress either directly to employment, or to proceed to further qualifications.

Progression to further study from GCSE will depend upon the number and nature of the grades achieved. Broadly, candidates who are awarded mainly Grades D to G at GCSE could either strengthen their base through further study of qualifications at Level 1 within the National Qualifications Framework or could proceed to Level 2. Candidates who are awarded mainly Grades A* to C at GCSE would be well prepared for study at Level 3 within the National Qualifications Framework.

9.3 Avoidance of bias

OCR has taken great care in preparation of this specification and assessment materials to avoid bias of any kind. Special focus is given to the 9 strands of the Equality Act with the aim of ensuring both direct and indirect discrimination is avoided.

9.4 Regulatory requirements

This specification complies in all respects with the current: General Conditions of Recognition; GCSE, GCE, Principal Learning and Project Code of Practice; GCSE Controlled Assessment regulations and the GCSE subject criteria for History. All documents are available on the Ofqual website.

9.5 Language

This specification and associated assessment materials are in English only. Only answers written in English will be assessed.

9.6 Spiritual, moral, ethical, social, legislative, economic and cultural issues

This specification enables candidates to develop their understanding of spiritual, moral, ethical, social, legislative, economic and cultural issues in depth. Spiritual issues are addressed, for example, in the Germany Depth Study which requires a study of the Holocaust. Moral and ethical issues are addressed in the core content, for example, in evaluating the fairness of the peace treaties of 1919–1923, as well as in the Depth Studies. Social issues are addressed, for example, in the British Depth Study where the changes in the roles of women in Britain during the First World War are studied. The Depth Studies, for example, Russia, 1905–1941 and Germany, 1919–1945, address a range of cultural issues by considering the role of culture in society and politics.

Candidates will also consider varied interpretations and representations of different cultures in the Study in Depth.

9.7 Sustainable development, health and safety considerations and European developments, consistent with international agreements

This specification supports these issues, consistent with current EU agreements, in the following topics:

Health, safety and environmental issues are addressed in the core content, for example, in the study of the work of the International Labour Organisation in relation to health, safety and environmental issues in the workplace, and the work of the Health Committee in fighting dangerous diseases and educating people about health and sanitation.

Environmental issues are also addressed through candidates' understanding of how past actions, choices and values impact on present and future societies, economies and environments.

Safety during fieldwork is paramount and candidates should be involved in Risk Assessment as part of their preparation for controlled assessment, when relevant.

OCR has taken account of the 1988 Resolution of the Council of the European Community in preparing this specification and associated specimen assessments. European examples should be used where appropriate in the delivery of the subject content. Relevant European legislation is identified within the specification where applicable.

The European dimension is addressed in the core content where both co-operation and conflict between European states are studied. Attempts at co-operation are examined, for example, in the key question, 'To what extent was the League of Nations a success?', while reasons for conflict between European nations are addressed in the key question, 'Why had international peace collapsed by 1939?'.

9.8 Key Skills

This specification provides opportunities for the development of the Key Skills of Communication, Application of Number, Information and Communication Technology, Working with Others, Improving Own Learning and Performance and Problem Solving at Levels 1 and/or 2. However, the extent to which this evidence fulfils the Key Skills criteria at these levels will be totally dependent on the style of teaching and learning adopted for each unit.

The following table indicates where opportunities may exist for at least some coverage of the various Key Skills criteria at Levels 1 and/or 2 for each unit.

Unit	C		AoN		ICT		WwO		IoLP		PS
	1	2	1	2	1	2	1	2	1	2	1	2
A010	✓	✓			✓	✓			✓	✓	✓	✓
A011–A017	✓	✓			✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
A021	✓	✓			✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
A022	✓	✓			✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓

9.9 ICT

In order to play a full part in modern society, candidates need to be confident and effective users of ICT. Where appropriate, candidates should be given opportunities to use ICT in order to further their study of History.

The assessment of this course requires candidates to:

ICT Application/ Development	Opportunities for using ICT during the course
Find things out from a range of sources, select and synthesise information to meet needs.	For controlled assessment candidates access electronic archives, search for and use appropriate websites for museums, government agencies and university departments.
Use a database to search and analyse patterns and test hypotheses effectively.	Candidates use CD-ROMs and Websites to test hypotheses about a given topic such as the effectiveness of the League of Nations. Candidates use a database showing changing voting patterns in Germany in the late 1920s and early 1930s to establish patterns in the changing support for the Nazi Party.
Develop an ability to question the accuracy, bias and plausibility of information researched.	Candidates evaluate the different interpretations to be found on the internet about, for example, the fall of communism in Europe.
Develop ideas using ICT tools; amend and refine work, and enhance its quality and accuracy.	Candidates may organise and deliver a presentation about, for example, the reasons for America's defeat in the Vietnam War to the rest of the class using PowerPoint.
Use a word-processing package to organise and classify.	Candidates organise and classify different types of causes of the Second World War and produce an annotated causal chain.
Exchange and share information.	Email projects may be set up for candidates to communicate with each other, their teacher, an expert or students from another Centre. Ideas and information about topics such as the Cold War, the Vietnam War and the fall of Communism in Europe could be exchanged. Candidates can use email or an electronic notice board to collect and pass on revision notes.

9.10 Citizenship

Since September 2002, the National Curriculum for England at Key Stage 4 has included a mandatory programme of study for Citizenship. Parts of this Programme of Study may be delivered through an appropriate treatment of other subjects.

This section offers guidance on opportunities for developing knowledge, skills and understanding of citizenship issues during the course. These opportunities are also indicated within the content of:

Citizenship Programme of Study	Opportunities for teaching citizenship issues during the course
The legal and human rights and responsibilities underpinning society and how they relate to citizens, including the operation of the criminal and civil justice systems.	These issues are addressed when studying legal and human rights and responsibilities, for example in Nazi Germany, Soviet Russia, and comparing these with the rights and responsibilities of citizens in a modern democratic state.
The work of Parliament, government and the courts in making and shaping law.	These issues are addressed when studying the making and shaping of laws, for example, in Britain during the First World War and the USA in the 1920s and 1930s. They are also addressed by studying the operation of the League of Nations.
The importance of a free press and the role of the media in society.	Study of the importance and role of the media in the chosen Depth Study will give opportunities to discuss the importance of a free media.
The United Kingdom's relations in Europe.	The changing nature of the United Kingdom's relations in Europe through the twentieth century is studied as part of the core content. This contributes to an understanding of the United Kingdom's relations in Europe today.
Opportunities for individuals and voluntary groups to bring about social change.	The role of influential individuals and groups in bringing about change is studied, for example, in the Depth Studies on The USA and Germany.
Express, justify and defend orally and in writing a personal opinion about such issues.	Candidates can, through the use of hot seating, express, justify and defend their views about, for example, the policy of appeasement or America's involvement in Vietnam.
Contribute to group and class discussion and formal debates.	Working in groups, candidates can prepare arguments in favour and against, for example, the terms of the Treaty of Versailles.
Use imagination to consider, express, explain and evaluate other people's experiences and opinions.	The Depth Studies and the controlled assessment unit provide many opportunities for candidates to understand the experiences and views of other people, such as the various groups in German society in the 1930s.

Appendix A: Guidance for the production of electronic controlled assessment

Structure for evidence

A controlled assessment portfolio is a collection of folders and files containing the candidate's evidence. Folders should be organised in a structured way so that the evidence can be accessed easily by a teacher or moderator. This structure is commonly known as a folder tree. It would be helpful if the location of particular evidence is made clear by naming each file and folder appropriately and by use of an index called 'Home Page'.

There should be a top level folder detailing the candidate's centre number, candidate number, surname and forename, together with the unit code A010, so that the portfolio is clearly identified as the work of one candidate.

Each candidate produces an assignment for controlled assessment. The evidence should be contained within a separate folder within the portfolio. This folder may contain separate files.

Each candidate's controlled assessment portfolio should be stored in a secure area on the centre's network. Prior to submitting the controlled assessment portfolio to OCR, the centre should add a folder to the folder tree containing controlled assessment and summary forms.

Data formats for evidence

In order to minimise software and hardware compatibility issues it will be necessary to save candidates' work using an appropriate file format.

Candidates must use formats appropriate to the evidence that they are providing and appropriate to viewing for assessment and moderation. Open file formats or proprietary formats for which a downloadable reader or player is available are acceptable. Where this is not available, the file format is not acceptable.

Electronic controlled assessment is designed to give candidates an opportunity to demonstrate what they know, understand and can do using current technology. Candidates do not gain marks for using more sophisticated formats or for using a range of formats. A candidate who chooses to use only word documents will not be disadvantaged by that choice.

Evidence submitted is likely to be in the form of word processed documents, PowerPoint presentations, digital photos and digital video.

To ensure compatibility, all files submitted must be in the formats listed below. Where new formats become available that might be acceptable, OCR will provide further guidance. OCR advises against changing the file format that the document was originally created in. It is the centre's responsibility to ensure that the electronic portfolios submitted for moderation are accessible to the moderator and fully represent the evidence available for each candidate.
